

Usikova O.V.

*Postgraduate Student at Department of Administrative,
Commercial Law and Financial and Economic Security,
Sumy State University*

SOME ISSUES OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION IN THE FIELD OF MONITORING OF COMPLIANCE WITH LEGISLATION IN THE LABOR MARKET

The article analyses some problems in the governance in the field of control over the compliance with legislation in the labour market. The legal status of the State Inspectorate of Ukraine on Labour is studied. The necessity of strengthening control in the labour market and prevention of offenses due to noncompliance with labour laws is substantiated.

Social and economic transformations that are going on in Ukraine directly affect the functioning of the labour market. Relations between employers and employees, their duties, rights, and powers are the issues, on which solution are directed the activities of all entities of state-government relations. Of course, the key role in solving these problems belongs to the state represented by the central authorities, including the State Inspectorate of Ukraine on Labour.

Today, the mechanisms of supervision and control over the compliance with labour laws are becoming increasingly important in Ukraine. The labour field requires constant attention from government agencies and institutions.

The purpose of this research is the problems that occur when an improper exercise of public administration in the field of monitoring of compliance with labour laws is taking place, as well as proposals and some solutions to the problems highlighted in this area.

This theme is relevant in the area of research and provides some positive results in the creation of appropriate regulatory conditions towards the management of labour relations and labour in general.